U.S. ARMY MATERIEL COMMAND

CG SENDS: COVID-19 UPDATE, 2 JUNE 2020

Army Materiel Command team,

For the first time in 12 weeks, you may have more weighing on your mind than just COVID-19. Our nation is facing challenging times. We are all having difficult conversations in our homes, with our family and friends, and in our communities.

My coaching is to stay focused on our priorities: protect our workforce and our families; combat and prevent the spread of the COVID virus; and accomplish our worldwide mission. Our warfighters are still deployed around the world with many in harm's way. We must be ready to support them every day, as well as, face the next contingency - whenever and wherever it may be - foreign or domestic -- in defense of our great nation.

My guidance is that we WILL treat every person with dignity and respect. The U.S. Army is one of the most trusted institutions in our nation, and that is because of the values that we uphold. We must ALWAYS maintain our commitment to those values in both words and deeds.

Army Materiel Command's ~190,000-strong military, civilian and contractor workforce is at the core of our support to the Warfighter. We need each of you - healthy, engaged, resilient and strong.

Winning Matters!
